

March 19, 2023 Fourth Sunday of Lent

As Jesus passed by he saw a man blind from birth. His disciples asked him, "Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?" Jesus answered, "Neither he nor his parents sinned; it is so that the works of God might be made visible through him.

We have to do the works of the one who sent me while it is day .Night is coming when no one can work. While I am in the world, I am the light of the world."

When he had said this, he spat on the ground and made clay with the saliva, and smeared the clay on his eyes, and said to him, "Go wash in the Pool of Siloam"—which means Sent—.So he went and washed, and came back able to see.

...When Jesus heard that the Pharisees had thrown him (the blind man) out, he found him and said, "Do you believe in the Son of Man?" He answered and said, "Who is he, sir, that I may believe in him?" Jesus said to him, "You have seen him, the one speaking with you is he." He said, "I do believe, Lord," and he worshiped him.

Then Jesus said, "I came into this world for judgment, so that those who do not see might see, and those who do see might become blind." Some of the Pharisees who were with him heard this and said to him, "Surely we are not also blind, are we?" Jesus said to them, "If you were blind, you would have no sin; but now you are saying, 'We see,' so your sin remains." - John 9:1-41

Jesus Heals the Blind Beggar In the story of Jesus healing the blind beggar, pride, the greatest of all sins, and humility, the greatest of all virtues are contrasted. It is seen that pride leads away from God and to spiritual blindness and death. Humility, on the other hand, makes it possible to see with the eyes of faith, to love and become children of God. The humility of the blind beggar enables him to attain a closeness with Jesus, understanding and trusting in what Jesus is telling him. He is able to receive the graces that Jesus means for him; not just the physical healing of his eyes, but the more important life-changing spiritual healing. The Pharisees however are blinded by their pride and their envy of the attention that Jesus is receiving. They are blinded by their love of the power and authority they wield. Their love of public opinion in the social sphere is more important to them than truth. Even though they know Jesus is right they refuse Jesus' correction. They arrogantly refuse to hear and accept evidence offered. They are so warped that they cannot even rejoice in a blind man receiving his sight and instead reprimand and interrogate him. Jesus condemns them for this pride and especially is harsh with them because they are religious leaders who are responsible for the spiritual well-being of their flock. Humility is simply knowing and acknowledging through our actions and words our place before God and His primacy in all things. He expects us to grow in humility always and Lent is an especially efficacious time to grow in the humility that is necessary for our redemption. The fruit of humility is gratitude for if we truly accept the reality of God who is the source of all love, goodness, truth and beauty, our creator and the Creator of the Universe, how can we be anything but grateful? The Church in her wisdom has provided the penitential seasons of Advent and Lent to grow in holiness and virtue, as we anticipate the high holy days of Christmas and Easter. And this growth is essential to a closer relationship with Jesus that will promote holiness and lead us to our heavenly home. Lenten practices are intended to steer us away from pride in ourselves and to grow in humility always. After all, Jesus our Lord humbled himself in his Passion and death on the cross for love of humanity. He asks us to accept our crosses for love of Him and our fellow brothers and sisters. Whatever actions we perform during Lent should increase our humility and virtue.
